Quick Look at the Budget

- The unfunded liability must be addressed to make sure educators have a secure retirement which is critical to attracting and keeping quality educators in the profession. The state must ensure the retirement commitments made to our hard-working teachers.

Gov. Brown’s proposed budget helps California schools heal after years of devastating cuts

State Council of Education—January 25-26, 2014

The governor’s proposed budget includes $10 billion in new funding for K-12 schools and community colleges. This includes $6 billion to eliminate all deferral payments to local school districts and colleges, as well $244 million for CSU and UC systems of higher education. Additionally, the governor committed to working with all parties to stabilize the teachers’ retirement system.

Talking Points

- California's educators appreciate the governor's continued commitment to public education and to repaying the billions of dollars that had been cut from students, schools and colleges.
- The governor's proposed budget will help our public schools and colleges continue to heal after years of devastating cuts. As we heal our schools, we heal our communities.
- This budget will allow local school districts to continue to restore critical programs and provide the resources that educators need to help students learn.
- CTA continues to review the details of the governor's budget plan, including the rainy day fund proposal and the impact it will have on school funding.
- We look forward to working with the governor and the Legislature on this state budget, as well as a plan to address the CalSTRS shortfall.
